ABOUT THE PROJECT

SUMMARY

This project proposes a cooperation to exchange the good practices in terms of evaluation and development of the key competences. This partnership is constituted from 6 countries, and targets in each of those 6 regions 2 groups: G1/the actors in the employment and training sectors (trainers, social workers, teachers, entrepreneurs, HR managers ...etc) and G2/the vulnerable populations that are excluded from the employment and training markets (isolated women and single mothers, migrants, adults living in rural areas and/or territories in economic decline, disabled people, as well as people close to illiteracy).

After proceeding with a comparative diagnosis of the modes and practices that are used to evaluate the basic competences, with the actors of the employment and training sectors in every country, the partnership will experiment and produce tools and methods for an initial evaluation of the basic competences, that are related to the 8 key competences defined in the European reference framework. These experiments will allow the partners to produce together individualised plans for the development of competences, in favour of the final beneficiaries (G2) and the implementation of training modules to evaluate the key competences in direction of the professionals (G1) which would allow them to adapt their practices to the diversity of problems faced by the vulnerable groups.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES AND STRATEGY

This partnership aims at 3 objectives:

1. Identify, analyse and exchange the good practices in terms of evaluation and development of key competences in favour of the groups who are in a situation of social and professional exclusion.

- perceive and compare the public policies and programs that are related to the development of basic competences, in favor of the vulnerable populations without any or low qualifications
- Identify and mobilise the various actors in charge of implementing the policies and programs in favour of the vulnerable groups
- comprehend and compare the profiles and characteristics of the populations that are considered vulnerable in each country

2. Coproduce and use tools and methods to conduct an initial evaluation and planning of the key skills.

- Analyse the various modalities used to evaluate the key competences of vulnerable groups
- plan and experiment tools and modalities to conduct initial evaluation of key competences
- Refine the orientation and contents of tailor made training programs, targeting the vulnerable groups

1. Improve and value the learning of key competences in a non formal & intercultural context.

- Define the different alternatives to conduct the initial evaluation of the key competences, according to the characteristics of the specific publics
- Strengthen the capacities of actors in terms of tailor made planning of training initiatives
- Promote the learning the key competences in a non formal & intercultural context.

Diagnostic of policies and programs that exist to evaluate the pre-acquired key competences

AUSTRIA

A mapping for all laws, policies, and programs that exist on a national, regional and/or local level concerning the evaluation of skills

In Austria the whole education and qualification system is embedded in the NQR - Nationaler Qualifikationsrahmen (National Qualification Framework). It includes also non-formal qualification and has to offer the possibility to visualize all parts of vocational education in adult learning to fulfil the demands of lifelong learning strategies. Herewith lifelong learning shall be promoted and put into action.

The evaluation of the different Key competences is competence specific:

- KC1: Communication the mother tongue
 - At the Age of 18 years the only evaluation for adults is at the end of high-school / vocational high-school. The final exams called "Matura" evaluate the competences in mother tongue German (for migrants it's the educational language). The "Matura" also gives in general the allowance to study at all Austrian university (some of them have additional entrance exams to evaluate study specific competences).
- KC2: Communication in foreign languages
 - At the Age of 18 years the only evaluation for adults is at the end of high-school / vocational high-school. The final exams called "Matura" mostly evaluate the competences in one or more foreign languages. Mainly English, French, sometimes Italian, Spanish, Russian and some other languages depending on type and location (region) of school. According to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) the first foreign language will be evaluated on the level B2 (after 8 years of learning), the second foreign language will be evaluated on the level B1 (after 4-6 years of learning).
 - Adults furthermore can evaluate their foreign language competences with ECL exams at the end of the course booked at vocational training centers or after non-formal/informal learning directly at ECL test centers. Exams are based on the CEFR.
 - The ÖSD Diploma is especially for migrants learning German as foreign language. Here the foreign language competence is tested based on CEFR and people get a ÖSD Diploma. The German language courses can be attended at vocational training centers. The AMS (Public Employment Service Austria) also offers unemployed migrants German language courses specifically designed for the target group, carried out at specified vocational training centers – here also the ÖSD Exam/Diploma can be taken at the end of the course.
 - A good command of German language is required if migrants apply for the Austrian citizenship. Here proving documents are taken for evaluation: official German language diploma in B1 (ÖSD, ECL), school reports that prove that the primary and secondary school was done in Austria and the grade for German Language (mother tongue teaching) was positive.
- KC3: Mathematical competence and basic competences in science and technology
 - At the Age of 18 years the only evaluation for adults is at the end of high-school / vocational high-school. The final exams called "Matura" evaluate the competences in mathematics. In vocational High Schools the "Matura" also evaluates basic competences in technology in the field of the learned profession (electrician, engineering & construction etc.)
 - At the Age of 18 years also the final exams for apprenticeship are taken at the Chamber of Commerce. Here the basic competences in technology are evaluated in the field of the learned profession (electrician, engineering & construction etc.).
- KC4: Digital competence
 - The digital competence in adult learning is evaluated as final EDCL - exams after computer courses in vocational training. The courses are offered at vocational training centers all over Austria as well as in specific courses for unemployed by the AMS.

- KC5: Learning to learn
 - No specific evaluation – here only seminars are offered to improve learning.
- KC6: Social and civic competences
 - To achieve Austrian citizen ship as migrant it is required to pass an exam proving the knowledge about Austria, Austrian history etc. – this is the only public evaluation on that offered, despite of some subject in school for undergraduate.
- KC7: Sense of initiative and entrepreneurship
 - Here the evaluation is embedded in programs to support start-ups. These programs are offered by different institutions like banks, vocational training centers contracted by the AMS as well as the Chamber of commerce. A Main factor in evaluation of these competences is the completion of a business plan.
- KC8: Cultural awareness and expression
 - No specific evaluation

2. Definition of basic competences recognized in each country and the concerned actors in private and public sectors

In Austria the whole education and qualification system is embedded in the NQR - Nationaler Qualifikationsrahmen (National Qualification Framework). In accordance with that the Volkshochschulen (specific vocational training centers with branches in many regions)) developed a competence oriented reference system for their course planning. A framework curriculum has been developed.

3. Tools used, methodology and how are they applied

Basically the well established evaluation tools are used in Austria like EDCL, ÖSD, ECL etc. in vocational training. Furthermore the final exams in Highschools also contribute to this evaluation.

On the level on private vocational training centers a variety of tools is used to evaluate at the course beginning several competences for this specific purpose. These tools are neither standardized nor available to the public.

4. Accessibility to these evaluations to vulnerable groups (they need to pay, easy to know about, ...etc)

In general, all tools provided via courses of the public employment services Austria (AMS) are free of charge. Also the final school exams are free of charge in most of the cases. All other tools are based on fees to be paid by the individuals.

The accessibility is given as most of the persons from vulnerable groups are registered with the AMS. Furthermore organizations like the “Integrationshaus” and “Migrant.at” for example support also persons who are not registered at the AMS yet due to their status of immigration.

5. Efficiency and limitations

- Some of the competences unfortunately have rarely a chance to be evaluated (especially KC 5 and KC 8), some competences of adults are only evaluated at the end of highschool (especially KC 1, KC3).
- For many competences there is no standardized evaluation like the ones in KC2 for example. We even do not have a standardized “Matura” at the end of highschool – we only have a frame and it is in the hand of the teachers to choose the questions and topics. Therefore we do not have really the chance for comparison. The standardization of the final exams in high-school is in progress now but was postponed again.

FRANCE

A mapping for all laws, policies, and programmes that exist on a national, regional and/or local levels concerning the evaluation of competences

1.a. Basic knowledge, key competence, illiteracy, analphabetism, what do we mean by that?

In France, Key competences cover three major domains:

1. Linguistic competences: oral communication, written communication (reading, writing);
2. Mathematical competences: capacity to handle numbers, count, work with sizes (percentages, volumes, ...etc);
3. Cognitive competences: logical reason, problem resolution, location in the space and time, concentration, memorizing ...etc

Today, in the professional field, professionals prefer to speak about basic skills, and not about basic knowledge, because by doing so, they refer to the knowledge obtained in a professional context. Basic competences are the "heart" of the "8 key competences" defined by Europe (recommendation of the European parliament, in 2006)

1.b. The texts of law:

Chapter V (Right to equal chances through education and culture - Article 149) of the orientation law n°98-657 in July 29th, 1998 relative to fighting against exclusions stipulate that "fighting against illiteracy establishes a national priority". This priority is taken into account by the public services of education as well as by public and private bodies who insure missions of training or social action. All public services contribute in a coordinated way to fight illiteracy in their respective spheres of action".

The law n°2004-391 of May 4th, 2004 that is related to long life vocational training and social dialog introduces actions to fight against illiteracy and learning French language during the vocational training: "Actions that fight against illiteracy and learning French language are part of the long life vocational training" (article L6111-2 of the labour law). This law foresees that training initiatives in favour of the employees who do not master the basic competences will be negotiated every three years depending on the professional branch to decide on the priorities, objectives and financial means for the vocational training.

The Law of orientation and programming of April 23rd, 2005 for the future of the school defines a common base of knowledge and skills that must be mastered at the end of the compulsory education: "every pupil has to master at the end of his compulsory education a common base of knowledge and skills".

The recommendation of the European Parliament in December 18th, 2006 decided on a common definition of the key competences.

The Law of February 19th, 2007 relative to training in the public service registers the trainings that fight against illiteracy and French learning as an independent category of full training.

The DGEFP Circular n° 2008/01 of January 3rd, 2008 related to the policy of the Ministry of Employment to interfere in favour of the people who are in professional insertion and help them access key competences.

The Law of November 24th, 2009 relative to the orientation and long life vocational training indicates that "the capacity to update knowledge, skills and team work completes the base of knowledge and competences". it creates the FPSPP (Fonds Paritaire de Sécurisation des parcours professionnels) (Equal Fund for securing professional careers) which finances training initiatives on key competences.

1.c. Financial means:

Training programmes for job-seekers and employees in an integration process

The State is competent in training job-seekers and employees who suffer from illiteracy and in an integration process. The programmes IRILL - Insertion Réinsertion lutte contre l'ILLettrisme (Integration Reintegration fight against illiteracy) which had this mission until 2009, as well as the educational personalized workshops (APP) that concern people who wish to obtain a basic level of knowledge were replaced by a new programme: the market of training that targets "key competences". It is managed by the region through the DIRECCTE.

Regions, although are not obliged to work on this issue, they often offer a linguistic or "basic knowledge" trainings, which are destined to young job-seekers in situations of analphabetism, illiteracy or learning French as a foreign language. Certain regions designed joint relationship between basic competences training offer and other existing trainings (creating a project/leading to a qualification/through learning) in a perspective of considering basic competences rather than illiteracy (as the offer addresses all public and not only those who studied at school in French language). Other regions work on basic competences and key competences in partnership with the OPCA for people in professional transition who can have the status of job seekers.

Employment office, within the framework of applying the agreement FPSPP – where the State, can also propose, in its offer, trainings on key competences and basic competences. Every region makes different choices on the subject.

General Councils sometimes develop trainings within the framework of the Department Plan of insertion. Municipalities or big associative networks can propose "evening classes" or "municipal workshops" on basic knowledge, the alpha or the FLE opened to job-seekers, but sometimes also to employees.

Programmes destined to employees

The organisations who are licensed to collect training taxes (OPCA) cover the charges of employees' trainings. They can finance trainings on key competences and basic competences. These programs have been handled better for a few years now, thanks to the support of (FPSPP)

A National Agency to fight against illiteracy:

Created in October 2000, for public interest, this flexible structure combines public and private partners, ANLCI organizes the work within the framework of competences that is appropriate to each field; it does not grant funding, but works on producing an added value through an action plan around three major axes:

- Measure: the ANLCI is in charge of promoting, on national, territorial and local levels, all actions that contribute to measure, prevent and act against analphabetism and favour the access for all to reading, writing and basic skills.
- Organise: ANLCI favours the optimization of all means mobilized by the State, regions, companies and civil society actors to fight against illiteracy.
- Equip: ANLCI accompanies and helps the actors who implement prevention actions and fighting against illiteracy to become more professional and develop their skills, as well as improve the quality and efficiency of the services proposed to the concerned persons.

2. Definition of basic competences recognized in each country and the concerned actors in private and public sectors

Definition by the Ministry of National Education.

In France, the DGEFP (Délégation générale à l'emploi et à la formation professionnelle) - General Delegation of Employment and vocational training, defined 5 groups of key competences:

1. Understanding and written expression
2. Mathematics, sciences and technology
3. Office automation and internet
4. Capacity to develop his/her knowledge and skills

5. initiation into a foreign language.

At the AFPA (Association nationale pour la formation professionnelle des adultes) - National Association for the vocational training of adults) 4 transversal competences:

1. Express himself/herself easily by using written and oral skills
2. Calculate
3. Reason
4. Use Internet and simple computing tools

While at the ANCLI (Agence nationale de lutte contre l'illettrisme) – National Agency to fight illiteracy. 3 areas of competences are defined that include 7 activities (Key competence reference for professional Situations):

1. Implementation
 1. Execute a task
 2. Understand and justify
2. Interaction
 1. Communicate
 2. Participate in one decision
3. Initiative
 1. Seize a chance
 2. Learn, take advantage of the experience
 3. Take initiatives

3. Tools used, methodology and how are they applied

1- User guide for key competences in professional situations

2- Positioning of the key competence "learn how to learn"

4. Accessibility to these evaluations to vulnerable groups (they need to pay, easy to know about, etc)

The government covers the costs of these evaluation for the following publics:

- Job seekers;
- Youngsters who left the school system without any qualification or diploma.

Under the vocational training finances:

- Employees with specific aided contracts under the obligation of training by the employer.

The access to the program "master key competences" is opened to employees, and has to lean on the intervention of professional sectors and OPCA (particularly in terms of financing).

5. Efficiency and limitations

Assessment report of 2008 in PACA region – Programme "Territorial Space to Access the First Knowledge (ETAPS):

148 actions were led in 60 municipalities. From the 6880 beneficiaries 20% are estimated to have abandoned. On the other hand, an emergency fund called IRIS (regional intervention for the social investment), that is dedicated to the vocational training in order to take into account the most weakened persons, was created with a co-financing from (OPCA). This action plan between the regional council, the prefecture of the region and the vice-chancellorship also aim at fighting against analphabetism.

Limitations from the professionals point of view: these programs group together many heterogeneous population, who have specific and diverse needs, this makes it very complex to implement a real tailored.

A mapping for all laws, policies, and programmes that exist on a national, regional and/or local levels concerning the evaluation of competences

1.a. Basic knowledge, key competence, illiteracy, analphabetism, what do we mean by that?

In Greece, Key competences cover three major domains:

1. Linguistic competences: oral communication, written communication (reading, writing) (5,4% of the population have not those competences);
2. Mathematical competences: capacity to handle numbers, count, work with sizes (percentages, volumes, ...etc)
3. Cognitive competences: logical reason, problem resolution, location in the space and time, concentration, memorizing ...etc
4. Operational analphabetic during various levels of the obligatory education.

Entering the E.U. the Law 1143 / 31st March 1981 "Special Education, Special Professional Education, Employment and Social Care" for individuals of special care and other educational provisions.

By the Law 2218/94 the "Public Education Services" are transported to Prefectural and Regional Authorities and their services were under the Local Governments and the local societies

The Decision of the Greek Ministry of Labor and Social Insurances Nr: 115910/9.10.2000 forecasted the operational processes for the established of a National System of Foundation and Assessment of Centers of Vocational Training for unemployment and low education level individuals.

The Law 3369/2005 "Regularization for lifelong learning and other provisions" attempts to take advance of the previous Greek experience in the space of lifelong learning in the frame of more total strategy for the development of human resources and the investment in the human capital.

The Law 3488/2006 "Application of equal treatment principle of men and women" with regard to their access in employment, in professional education and promotion to equal work conditions".

1.c. Financial means:

Training programmes for job-seekers and employees in an integration process

The State is competent in training job-seekers and employees who suffer from illiteracy and in an integration process. The National Program of Initial Vocational Training created a "National Network of Centre of Adults Education - KEE" which has the mission to train adults on basic skills of Literacy, Maths, New Technologies and Social accession. The programme "HRON" – Adults Training on Basic New Technologies and Communication Skills - which has this mission until 2011, as well as the European Social Funds Programmes (ESF) that concern unemployment people who wish obtain a basic level of knowledge in order to find a new job or they want to reorient their job carrier.

Regions work on this issue and they often offer a linguistic or "basic knowledge" trainings, which are destined to young job-seekers in situations of analphabetism, illiteracy or learning Greek as a foreign language. Certain regions designed joint relationship between basic competences training offer and other existing trainings (creating a project/leading to a qualification/through learning) in a perspective of considering basic competences rather than illiteracy. Those activities are financed through the Greek National General Secretary of Public Training (GSPT). Other regions work on basic competences and key competences in partnership with the Greek Ministry of Labour for people in professional transition who can have the status of job seekers.

Employment office, within the framework of the State, can also propose, in its offer, trainings on key competences and basic competences. Every region makes different choices on the subject and has separate infrastructures to support different kind of training programs.

General Councils sometimes develop trainings within the framework of the Department Plan of insertion. Municipalities or big associative networks can propose "evening classes" or "municipal workshops" on basic knowledge, opened to job-seekers, but sometimes also to employees.

Programmes destined to employees

The organisations that are licensed to collect training taxes (LAEK) cover the charges of employees' trainings. They can finance trainings on key competences and basic competences. These programs have been handled better for a few years now, thanks to the support of the Greek Ministry of Labour.

2. Definition of basic competences recognized in each country and the concerned actors in private and public sectors

2. Mathematics, sciences and technology
3. Office automation and internet
4. Capacity to develop his/her knowledge and skills
5. Initiation into a foreign language.

At the GSEA – General Secretary of Adults Education defined 4 transversal competences:

1. Express himself/herself easily by using written and oral skills
2. Calculate

5. Efficiency and limitations

Assessment report of 2011 in National Network of Centre of Adults Education - KEE" and "HRON" programmes.

KEE: From 2004 - 2011 more than 24.000 beneficiaries in 1700 actions were led in 45 Centres of Adults Education followed various training courses for basic skills on Greek language, Maths (calculate), Tourism and development, History and Social integration.

HRON: 540 actions were led in 42 municipalities from 2006 -2011 and the 6.500 beneficiaries followed various training courses on basic computer and communication skills.

Limitations from the professionals point of view: these programs group together many heterogeneous population, who have specific and diverse needs, this makes it very complex to implement a real tailored work with them (youth, seniors, migrants ...etc).

In Italy the basic regulation regarding the job placement of disabled people or people belonging to weak categories is Law n.68/99: it promotes working inclusion of disabled, requiring companies with more than 15 employees to hire a disabled who is in the list of L. 68. This targeted employment system promotes the job placement of disabled people with specific competences and professional attitudes corresponding to the qualifications required by the company. In this way, competences of the person are evaluated and appreciated. Art. 2 of Law n. 68/99 explains that “targeted employment” means a series of supporting instruments to evaluate competences of disabled people in order to include them in the job system.

Law n. 196/97 regulates internships and vocational training: Art. 18 on the alternating work- study experiences in order to facilitate professional choices of beneficiaries, who have fulfill the obligation of school education, through direct contact with the world of work. The duration of the internships can cover a period not longer than 12 months, except for disabled people, who can have a 24 months internships depending on the specificity of their vocational program.

MAIN ACTORS FOR THE EVALUATION OF COMPETENCES

In Italy the Institute for the evaluation of education and vocational system, called INVALSI, is responsible for the evaluation of competences in the educational system at national level. It is a research organ, born after the European Centre for Education (CEDE) at the beginning of 1970es. Based on current law, which are the result of an evolution law significantly more focused on the evaluation and qualitative aspects of the school system, the Institute:

- performs periodic audits and systematic knowledge and skills of students and the overall quality of the educational institutions of education and vocational education and training, including in the context of lifelong learning, in particular manages the National Evaluation System (VNS);
- investigates the causes of failure and school dropout with reference to the social context and the types of training;
- makes the necessary surveys to assess the value added by schools;
- annually prepares the texts of the new written test, a national character, to verify the general and specific levels of learning achieved by students in the examination of State in the third year of lower secondary school degree;
- prepares models to be made available to school autonomy in drawing the third Test at the conclusion of the paths of upper secondary education;
- provides for the assessment of the learning achievements of students at the end of upper secondary education courses, using the written evidence of the state exams in accordance with criteria and procedures consistent with those applied internationally to ensure comparability;
- provides support and technical assistance to school administration, regions, territorial authorities, and individual educational and training institutions for the realization of autonomous monitoring, evaluation and self-assessment;
- conducts teacher training and school leadership, linked to the processes of evaluation and self-evaluation of educational institutions;
- conducts research, both on his own initiative or on behalf of public and private;
- ensures the Italian participation in European and international research projects in the field of evaluation, representing the country in the competent bodies;
- formulates proposals for the full implementation of the evaluation system for school leaders, defines the procedures for their evaluation, formulates proposals for the formation of the components of the evaluation team and makes monitoring the development and outcome of the evaluation system.

The INVALSI is supervised by the Ministry of Education that identifies the strategic priorities of the Institute which takes account in planning its operations. The assessment of scientific and technological priorities is reserved to the Institute.

At regional and local level the Regions and the Provinces are responsible for the education and training system and for the evaluation of competences for the access to vocational training.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING SYSTEM IN ITALY

To understand better the evaluation of competences system in Italy we need to consider that the Italian EDUCATION AND TRAINING SYSTEM is currently undergoing a difficult revision phase, and is quite complex.

The current SYSTEM is based on two pillars: OBLIGATORY EDUCATION, which regards all children from their 6th to 16th years of age; and the RIGHT TO /DUTY OF EDUCATION AND TRAINING, which concerns young people aged 16 to 18.

- OBLIGATORY EDUCATION (Law n. 296/2006, art. 1 par. 622, 624, 632) that takes place exclusively in state-run schools;
- the RIGHT TO /DUTY OF EDUCATION AND TRAINING (Decreto Legislativo 15 April 2005 n. 76) can be absolved either in state-run schools or in the Regional professional training centres (that are, schools which are dependent on the regional government) BUT only for certain profiles defined on a national level.

State higher secondary schools (high schools) include: LICEI (college prep), ISTITUTI TECNICI (technical institutes), ISTITUTI PROFESSIONALI (professional institutes); courses last 5 years, at the end of which students earn the Diploma di Maturità which is valid on a national level.

Regional professional training centres offer three-year programmes, at the end of which students are awarded a Diploma di Qualifica (Qualification) which is valid on a national level, according to the Law n. 845/78 "LEGGE-QUADRO IN MATERIA DI FORMAZIONE PROFESSIONALE".

Thus a student who has fulfilled his/her OBLIGATORY EDUCATION, by attending for example the final two years of a Technical Institute, may pass on to a Regional professional training centre, to earn a Qualification; or s/he may continue the course at the Technical Institute, and earn the Diploma di Maturità; or s/he can enter the work force and complete his/her RIGHT TO /-DUTY OF EDUCATION through the obligatory training paths called for under the APPRENTICESHIP contract.

Besides the Diploma di Maturità, students of the Professional Institutes can also earn an Attestato di qualifica professionale (Professional Qualification Certificate) during their five years in school, by attending an additional 600 hours of course.

After 18 years of age, or after obtaining a Diploma di Maturità, and on having in any case fulfilled the OBLIGATORY EDUCATION requirement, it is possible to have access to training activities provided by the REGIONAL TRAINING SYSTEM, of which the Training centres already mentioned also are a part. The regional training system is organised and controlled by the regional and provincial governments, but the activities are conducted by private Training agencies. The training activities are diversified by their duration (ranging from a few hours to three years), type of students (young people completing their right to/duty of training, high school graduates, college graduates, adults, women, subjects risking social or labour exclusion, workers, unemployed, etc.), purpose (up-dating, continuous training, qualification, licensing, etc.), type of subject treated. The regional and provincial governments also organise and control the training activities of the IFTS channel, which is post-secondary training (but it is possible to attend even without a Diploma di Maturità or Qualification diploma) on EQF level 5. The target of these training paths is, therefore, varied; the Umbrian Regional training system, for example, issues three types of certificates: Attendance certificate and Attendance with profit certificate both with regional validity; Attendance of Qualification, with national validity.

In this context which we have described briefly, and which is still changing, one must insert the recent Regional system (of the Region of Umbria) of professional standards, articulated in profiles; this system is the minimum unitary reference for the awarding of qualifications by the Region and the Provinces of Umbria; Region of Umbria has also adopted a system for the RECOGNITION OF TRAINING CREDITS, acquired in formal, informal and non-formal contexts, to allow citizens of the region to pass from one training path (whether state or regional) to another, or from work to regional training, etc.

The Umbrian regional system of professional profiles comprises training paths corresponding to EQF levels II, III, IV, and V; the professional profiles are articulated by Competence Units (UC); the UC described constitute the MINIMUM requirements for each profile.

UMBRIA VOCATIONAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING SYSTEM

On January 2010 Umbria regional government passed a first part of a regional professional standard Repertory and defined the respective competences; this Repertory consists of 44 Profiles described through learning outcomes.

Regione Umbria has also established which qualification is required to access to each training pathway , and, for each training pathway , EQF level and regional level.

Profiles are so described through learning outcomes, competence, knowledge and skill, according to European ECVET outlines.

UMBRIA TRAINING SYSTEM is moreover founded on training credits; all training activities (courses, work experiences , apprenticeship ecc.) are organized through learning outcomes; any kind of learning (formal, not formal, informal) entitle to training credits recognition from training Agencies; training credits may be used to accede to regional training pathways.

It is important for me to remark that in Umbria credits are not quantified through points, but they consist in a description (“document for making learning transparent”) realized with the help of a professional figure issued by Regione Umbria, credits tutor .

When the training Agency is going to start a training pathway, informs the citizens about the possibility of gaining credits or for accessing to the course or for shortening the same course ; the entire credit recognition process is managed by training Agencies and is officially recognized by Regione Umbria or Provincia di Perugia.

EVALUATION OF COMPETENCES IN THE TRAINING CREDITS SYSTEM IN UMBRIA

Training credit means the evaluation of key competences however gained.

Entry credits To allow admission to a training course if the applicant hasn't the required education or vocational training level

Attendance credits To obtain exemption from attendance or evaluation of one or more parts of a training course; this allows the personalization of the training course

Credit recognition allows the passage from: education course or apprenticeship to training courses

Credit evaluation Training credit evaluation is set by the training agency; so it is restricted to a specific training course, and is not transferable to other courses.

Credit recognition This is a public procedure, carried out following the rules of the Region of Umbria, to assign entrance and/or attendance credits to a citizen.

Credit recognition is an instrument to ensure lifelong learning, through giving value to formal , non formal, and informal learning.

The recognition procedure consists of four phases:

1. recognition request by the person concerned: s/he makes the request to the training agency; in the request the applicant describes what has been learned.
2. make transparent the applicant's learning: the applicant's learning outcomes are described in details to allow the evaluation of his/her knowledge, competences and learning abilities. This work is done by a credits tutor, who is a professional figure recognised by the Region of Umbria.
3. Learning evaluation , to recognize required credits: The data emerging from the detailed description of phase two are evaluated to assign the required credits. The evaluation is carried out by an assessment body recognized by the Region of Umbria and the Province of Perugia. The assessment is realized by interviewing the applicant, through an analysis his/her documents, and, if needed, through evaluation tests.
4. Credit recognition; preparing a personalized training pathway: Credit recognition is issued by the Region of Umbria and/or by the Province of Perugia. Entrance credit recognition allows admission to the training course even without the required formal educational level.
After the attendance credit recognition, the training agency proceeds to the definition of the personalised training pathway.

Three hypotheses are possible:

- exemption from attendance or evaluation of one or more parts of a training course
- only exemption from attendance of one or more parts of a training course and not exemption from evaluation
- training debt collection by accompanying actions and help to individual learning.

Procedure players The learning evaluation body is chosen by the training agency and is constituted by the manager of the training agency, by the credits tutor and, if necessary, by experts, and by a representative of the Region or Province of Perugia, with auditing functions. The credits tutor has specific professional skills recognised by the Region of Umbria.

Questionnaire on key competences evaluation

We asked social services operators, working with the project target to answer some questions about the evaluation of key competences. (see annex 1 to the present document). The questionnaire results stress a common system of enrolling beneficiaries of the service (vocational guidance, training, targeted placement, SAL service). An initial application form is filled in, with information on schooling and work experience of the beneficiary. Afterwards, through cognitive interviews and vocational guidance activity, personal attitudes and professional competences are investigated and it is possible to complete a balance of competences. Everything is made through a direct interview and by vocational guidance instruments. All the qualification certificates of the beneficiaries must be delivered to provide a direct certification of the competences. Very often key competences are tested by vocational training internship, that is the most effective instrument for an objective evaluation.

Vocational Training and Job placement service have not a unique evaluation system of key competences, and this is the greatest limit. Everything is evaluated by interviews and balance of competences. A greater objectivity is possible for beneficiaries with a higher education level (diploma and degree) because a studying path guarantees a level of competences established by the school system.

POLAND

A mapping for all laws, policies, and programmes that exist on a national, regional and/or local levels concerning the evaluation of competences

1.a. Basic knowledge, key competence, illiteracy, analphabetism, what do we mean by that?

Basic knowledge is generally defined as knowledge obtained within compulsory education that in Poland lasts till the age of 18. Basic knowledge is verified by compulsory exams:

- After primary school (12 year olds)
- After middle school (15 year olds)

Exams after secondary schools are necessary to continue further education.

Key competencies in Poland are equal to those defined by Recommendation 2006/962/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 18 December 2006 on key competences for lifelong learning [Official Journal L 394 of 30.12.2006]

Key competencies are the same on every level of education.

According to UNDP Report 2011 Poland is on 7th place in the world of countries with the highest literacy rate of 99,3% of population, so illiteracy is practically non-existent.

1.b. The texts of law:

Strategy for development of education for the years 2007-2013 adopted in the year 2005. The strategy encompasses the whole educational system from pre-school to adult education. Lifelong learning strategy aims to highlight two dimensions of LLL – lifewide learning (taking account of the potential of non-formal and informal learning) and the learning outcomes (indicating the need for assessment and recognition of the competences as learning outcomes, irrespective of the method, place and time of their acquisition).

Elements of the so designed LLL strategy are already now being implemented on the basis of the National Reform Programme (NRP) for 2005-2008 and for 2008-2011. The significance of education has been especially emphasized in the NRP 2008-2011 – the activity entitled Development of Education in the Knowledge-based Society and Economy is listed in the first place in the document. The curriculum reform of general education for all types of schools which fully recognizes the outcome of works of the cluster on key competences is a crucial part. The main benchmarks adopted to monitor changes in the scope of this activity refer to the level of key competences.

The Act on Employment Promotion and Labour Market Institutions of 2004 lists the following target groups for whom educational and training assistance is granting by projects funded from the Labour Fund: (1) the unemployed; (2) individuals looking for , including the specific categories: reserve soldiers, individuals collecting training pensions, employees discharged from establishments going bankrupt, individuals receiving social benefits, participants of integration programmes, families of farmers; (3) employees aged 45 and more.

These persons may benefit from forms of assistance organised or financed by employment agencies, including: (1) trainings; (2) refund of the costs of exams and licenses; (3) financing of post-graduate studies; (4) loans for training; (5) scholarships for further education in the school system; (6) internships.

The Act on Professional and Social Rehabilitation and Employment of Disabled Persons of 1997 defines the following target groups supported, among others, in obtaining adequate professional preparation: (1) adults classified by decision-making bodies to one of the three disability levels (significant, limited and slight); (2) adults totally or partially unable to work.

These individuals are entitled to participate in various forms of professional rehabilitations, in training sessions and in internships with the purpose of gaining qualifications for a , retraining or developing professional qualifications. The employers may get a refund of 90% of the costs of training disabled employees.

The Social Services Act of 2004 defines the target groups - supported, among others, in the scope of learning – as individuals threatened with marginalization and social exclusion due, among others, to poverty, being an orphan, homelessness, unemployment, disability, a severe illness, home violence or helplessness, or individuals in trouble with integration, such as foreigners, formerly imprisoned or addicted persons.

Provisions of the Social Employment Act of 2003 are addressed to the unemployed, alcoholics and drug-users, psychically disabled, long-unemployed or formerly imprisoned persons, refugees or disabled persons. Under this act social integration centers and clubs are created which work for social integration by providing services such as: training of abilities allowing to play social roles, gain professional qualifications, retrain oneself or increase qualifications, plan one's life and cater for one's own needs through one's own efforts, as well as to learn how to manage financial resources.

Provisions of the Social Cooperatives Act of 2006 are addressed to unemployed persons (defined in the Act on Promotion of Employment and Institutions of the Labour Market), individuals threatened with marginalization (defined in the Social Employment Act) and disabled persons (defined in the Act on Professional and Social Rehabilitation). They allow for creation of social cooperatives for a joint venture aimed at recreating the individual's participation in local community life and his/her employability. A social cooperative may run social and educational-cultural activities, as well as organise volunteer services.

1.c. Financial means:

Training programmes for job-seekers and employees in an integration process

Training programmes for job-seekers and employees are defined on a national level and implemented by training institutions and employment agencies locally.

The following programmes were financed from the Labour Fund reserve remaining at the disposal of the minister of labour:

- a Good Start, which covered 11.5 thousand of youth benefiting from the key competence and professional development courses combined with in-service training, financial grants for starting business activities, refund of exams and professional licenses costs,
- Investment in qualifications deficit on the labour market, which covered 21 thousand unemployed persons benefiting from courses (with elements of the key competences – computer literacy, running own business, basics of foreign languages, -searching skills),
- Active Woman which covered 2.5 thousand unemployed women over the age of 50 benefiting from projects aimed at finding and keeping jobs or starting a new business,
- Programme 45/50 plus, which covered several thousand unemployed women, aged over 45 aimed at restoring their employability.

The following programmes were financed from the means of the State Fund for Rehabilitation of Disabled Persons affecting the increase of education availability to the disabled:

- Student – continuous learning, which covered around 35 thousand students with special education needs,
- Pythagoras – a programme aiding deaf or partially hearing individuals,
- Computer for Homer 2003 – a programme aiding digital competence of blind and partially sighted persons, which covered over 31 thousand people (support in buying equipment), including over 3.5 thousand of those participating in the ICT courses.

Another source of funding are operational programmes absorbing the European Social Fund funds. Within its framework the following activities were funded:

- Active social policy promotion by supporting special risk groups (over 63 thousand participants),
- Professional integration and re-integration of women (over 48 thousand women),
- Development and modernisation of institutions of the labour market (over 37 thousand staffs of institutions of the labour market).

In October 2008 the Ministry Council adopted the Solidarity Between Generations Programme. Action for the increase of professional activity of persons aged 50+. This is a multi-year complex programme conducted by many actors (the government and selfgovernment administrations, social partners and non-government institutions).

The following aims related to lifelong learning have been included in the programme:

- increase of competence and qualifications of employees aged over 50,
- facilitating activity of the unemployed persons and those threatened with the loss of s aged over 50.

2. Definition of basic competences recognized in each country and the concerned actors in private and public sectors

Definition of Key competencies in Poland are equal to those defined by Recommendation 2006/962/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 18 December 2006 on key competences for lifelong learning [Official Journal L 394 of 30.12.2006] Key competencies definitions are the same on every level of education.

1. Mother tongue

The fluent communication competence is mastered at all stages of education, enriched by deepened reflection on the language, allowing for reception and production of elaborate and complex messages.

2. Foreign languages

The main aim of teaching modern foreign languages has been defined as fostering effective written and oral communication in the foreign language.

3. Math, science and technology

This mainly refers to skills, such as modeling, strategic thinking connected with logical reasoning and argumentation.

4. Digital competence

Preparation for efficient functioning in the information society. The abilities to safely operate computers and software, to search, store and process information, as well as to assess threats and limitations and value the social aspects of the IT applications development.

5. Learning to learn

Learning how to learn puts emphasis on building autonomy and responsibility. It is executed by individual and group projects, which encourage active acquisition of knowledge. Also, preparing for making important choices of the future areas of studies, ways of improving qualifications, up to the choice of profession is important.

6. Social and civic competence

Social and civic competences are aimed at fostering attitudes, such as: honesty, reliability, responsibility, interest in gaining knowledge, personal culture, readiness to participate in culture and teamwork. Shaping the civic posture, the attitude characterized by respect for the tradition and culture of one's own nation, as well as respect for other cultures and traditions are crucial for the social development.

7. Initiative taking and entrepreneurship

Realities of functioning of economy, preparing to enter the labour market.

8. Cultural awareness and expression

This competence is to develop a creative attitude and motivate to participate in various forms in culture, equip with intellectual tools enabling analysis of work of arts, awaken musical interests and gifts, as well as to create conditions for individuals to create and present their artistic output.

3. Tools used, methodology and how are they applied

No ministry document on methodology of key competencies teaching.

A number of teaching programmes and frameworks created within ESF programmes.

4. Accessibility to these evaluations to vulnerable groups (they need to pay, easy to know about, ...etc)

Access to form of training are free for vulnerable groups and widely promoted.

The adult target groups entitled to special forms of assistance with regard to learning have been specified in several acts passed by the Parliament.

The Act on Employment Promotion and Labour Market Institutions of 2004 lists the following target groups for whom educational and training assistance is granting by projects funded from the Labour Fund:

- (1) the unemployed;
- (2) individuals looking for employment;
- (3) employees aged 45 and more.

The Act on Professional and Social Rehabilitation and Employment of Disabled Persons of 1997 defines the following target groups supported, obtaining adequate learning support:

- (1) adults classified by decision-making bodies to one of the three disability levels (significant, limited and slight);
- (2) adults totally or partially unable to work.

The Social Services Act of 2004 defines the target groups – supported in the scope of learning – as individuals threatened with marginalization and social exclusion due to poverty, being an orphan, homelessness, unemployment, disability, a severe problems.

Provisions of the Social Employment Act of 2003 are addressed to:

1. the unemployed,
2. alcoholics,
3. drug-users,
4. psychically disabled,
5. long-unemployed,
6. formerly imprisoned persons,
7. refugees,
8. disabled persons.

5. Efficiency and limitations

Efficiency is measured by:

- (1) cyclical research in the public statistics system,
- (2) administrative bases related to the ministries' execution of tasks and related to institutions subject to the ministries,
- (3) ordered statistical research or such research conducted for scientific purposes.

Efficiency of inclusion and employment instruments is currently on the level of 20%. Therefor there is a severe need to search for more effective tools and methodologies.

Limitations from the professionals point of view:

Programmes should be tailor made for specific groups, as now vulnerable groups are given the same measures of intervention regardless their real needs. Currently a number of social experimentation projects are in progress which aim at crating better suited tools for specific target groups.

SPAIN

A mapping for all laws, policies, and programmes that exist on a national, regional and/or local level concerning the evaluation of competences

1.a. Basic knowledge, key competence, illiteracy, analphabetism, what do we mean by that?

Competence is the ability to resolve a situation in a given context.

Basic competencies are the set of cognitive skills, procedures and attitudes that can and should be achieved throughout life and that are essential to ensure the personal and social development and adaptation to the needs of life and to exercise the rights and duties of citizens.

Key competences can be defined as permanent skills that are necessary to carry out a satisfactory learning throughout life. In other words, it would be basic competencies for a comprehensive development in today's informative societies. The European Union defines competence as a combination of knowledge, skills and attitudes appropriate to the context and key competences as those that all individuals need for personal fulfillment and development, as well as active citizenship, social inclusion and employment.

DeSeCo (Definition and Selection of Competences) identifies three categories of key competencies:

1. Competences that allow you to act autonomously, such as understanding the context in which we act and decide, create and manage life plans and personal projects, and to defend and assert one's rights, interests, needs and limits.
2. Competences that allow you to master the tools needed to interact with cultural knowledge, such as language, symbols and numbers, information and previous knowledge, as well as physical instruments such as computers.
3. Competences that permit you to interact in heterogeneous groups, such as getting along with others, cooperation and teamwork, and manage and resolve conflicts.

Key competences for success in life and proper functioning of society

Act in an autonomous manner

- Ability to defend and assert their rights and interests, as well as their responsibilities, limits and necessities.
- Ability to develop and conduct projects, both professionally and personally.
- Ability to operate on the overall situation/ the greater context

Use tools interactively

- Ability to use language, symbols and text interactively
- Ability to use knowledge and information in an interactive manner
- Ability to use (new) technology interactively

Function (intervene) in socially heterogeneous groups

- Ability to maintain good relations with others
- Ability to cooperate
- Ability to manage and resolve conflicts

Illiteracy would consist of people who lack these key competences, or at least the vast majority of them, as it is quite unlikely to find someone who lacks all.

The legal framework is established for the development of measures related to unemployment and is based on guidelines established in Europe. In the following diagram we see how it will specify to different geographical areas to get to Benalmadena on a local level.

2. Definition of basic competences recognized in each country and the concerned actors in private and public sectors

Basic competences of compulsory secondary education are set forth in Annex I of Royal Decree 1631/2006 dated December 26, establishing the minimum knowledge according to the Obligatory Secondary Education, and on the article 6.2 of the decree 231/2007, dated July 31.

1. Linguistic competences.
2. Mathematical competences
3. Knowledge of and interaction with the physical world.
4. Processing of information and digital competence.
5. Social and civic competences.
6. Cultural and artistic competences.
7. Competence in learning to learn.
8. Independence and personal initiative.

The actors involved in evaluating them are always public, as they are in charge of issuing or validating any transcript.

As the responsibility for education in Spain belongs to the autonomous regions, they are in charge of evaluating either through formal education, or by means of free trials in all secondary education, like high school or vocational training.

According to the article number 38 of the E.L.A. (Education Law in Andalucía) include at least these basic competences:

1. Competence in linguistic communication, about using the language as a tool of written and spoken communication, both in Spanish and foreign languages.
2. Competence of mathematical reasoning, understood as the skill to use numbers and basic operations, symbols and the ways of expression of mathematical reasoning in order to produce and interpret information and solve problems related to daily life.
3. Competence in the knowledge and interaction with the physical and natural world, which will contain the ability to understand events, prediction of consequences and the activity about the healthy status of people and environmental sustainability.

4. Digital competence and processing information, understood as the ability to look for, get, process and communicate the information and transmit it as knowledge, including the use of Information and Communication Technology, as a basic element to inform and communicate.
5. Social and citizen competence, understood as that one which allows living in society, understand the reality of the world we live in and to exercise the democratic citizenship.
6. Cultural and artistic competence, which means appreciate, understand and criticize different cultural and artistic values, use them as source of enjoyment and personal enrichment, and consider them as a part of the cultural heritage of the different places.
7. Competence and attitudes to keep learning in an independent way along the life.
8. Competence for the autonomy and personal initiative, which includes the possibility to choose under judgment and follow the necessary initiatives to develop the chosen option y to become responsible of it. This also includes the entrepreneurship to devise, plan, develop and evaluate a project.

In Andalusia, the Ministry of Education established the presence of competences in the different educational levels. In the curriculums that are developed in each cycle is taken into account the evaluation of different competences, as they rely on them to develop the contents taught and have to acquire the alumnies.

In part of the Ministry of Economy, Innovation and Employment is taking into account the basic competencies in care programs for unemployed people (Andalucia Orienta, Accompaniment Programme insertion, Internship Programs in Business, Education for Employment ...). The domain itself serves the unemployed person to learn to face the labour market and promote their inclusion in it.

Complementary services are being developed, Entrepreneurs Care (consortia UTEDLT-Alpe, CADE) where they work with specific competences to provide people with a business idea the implementation thereof.

3. Tools used, methodology and how are they applied

The tools and methodologies of evaluation of basic competences are registered in the II Annex of the Royal Decree, dated December 29 and in the I Annex of the order from August 10, 2007, in order to develop the CV according to Secondary Education in Andalusia.

4. Accessibility to these evaluations to vulnerable groups (they need to pay, easy to know about, etc.)

The accessibility to these evaluations is completely free, and the only limit is on the age.

For the free tests of Secondary Education, they need to be over 18 years old, in the year the student is having that test. If the youngsters are under 18, they need to be evaluated in their own Schools, because they will be in the corresponding age of Secondary Education.

The basic competences in Spain are governed by the minimum instruction of the Obligatory Secondary Education and anyone who is not able to prove to be certified in Secondary Education (or any of its equivalents) is supposed to not have the basic competences for life, even when this is not real, but it is shown by the certificate.

5. Efficiency and limitations

Assessment report of 2008 in PACA region–Programme “Territorial Space to Access the First Knowledge (ETAPS):

Analysis (weaknesses, threats, strengths and opportunities) of the employment:

Weaknesses:

1. Seasonality of tourism.

2. Dependence on outside investors.
3. Deficit on the structure of trade.
4. Large increase of unstable population in holiday periods.
5. Technological weakness of the companies.
6. Unstructured and incomplete management model.
7. Loss of agricultural production.
8. Specialized training centers in other areas, causing the emigration of skilled labour.
9. Lack of consolidated and developed industry, based on shortage of land and public advocacy for empowerment.
10. Skilled labour moves to other areas due to lack of demand, also excess supply in various occupations.

Mathematical competence and basic competences in science and technology (K3)

Definition: A. Mathematical competence is the ability to develop and apply mathematical thinking in order to solve a range of problems in everyday situations. Building on a sound mastery of numeracy, the emphasis is on process and activity, as well as knowledge. Mathematical competence involves, to different degrees, the ability and willingness to use mathematical modes of thought (logical and spatial thinking) and presentation (formulas, models, constructs, graphs, charts).

B. Competence in science refers to the ability and willingness to use the body of knowledge and methodology employed to explain the natural world, in order to identify questions and to draw evidence-based conclusions. Competence in technology is viewed as the application of that knowledge and methodology in response to perceived human wants or needs. Competence in science and technology involves an understanding of the changes caused by human activity and responsibility as an individual citizen.

KEY 7: Sense of initiative and entrepreneurship

Definition: Sense of initiative and entrepreneurship refers to an individual's ability to turn ideas into action. It includes creativity innovation and risk-taking, as well as the ability to plan and manage projects in order to achieve objectives. This supports individuals, not only in their everyday lives at home and in society, but also in the workplace in being aware of the context of their work and being able to seize opportunities, and is a foundation for more specific skills and knowledge needed by those establishing or contributing to social or commercial activity. This should include awareness of ethical values and promote good governance.

DIECIMILA EURO PER FAR VIAGGIARE IL GATTO!

I miei nonni si chiamano Caterina e Gennaro Priolo. Sono nati in Sardegna, a Nuoro, e sono pensionati. Fino a poco tempo fa abitavano a Roma per lavoro. Hanno tre figlie, Paola, Lisa e Giulia (la mia mamma) che abitano in Sardegna dove abito anche io. A Roma i miei nonni erano da soli e per sentire meno la solitudine avevano preso un gatto, Fufi, che per loro è come un altro figlio. Lo avevano trovato lungo una strada dove stava per morire: era ferito e lo hanno curato. Tempo fa nonna Caterina e nonno Gennaro hanno deciso di ritornare a Nuoro, ma non sapevano come fare con Fufi perché soffre il mal d'aria, il mal di mare e ha una grande paura di tutti i mezzi di trasporto. Allora, per farlo viaggiare da Roma alla Sardegna, hanno affittato un elicottero, hanno fatto addormentare Fufi con un'anestesia e hanno chiesto ad un medico veterinario di accompagnarli. Per fare tutto questo hanno pagato diecimila euro! L'elicottero ha impiegato due ore per arrivare a Nuoro e durante il volo Fufi è stato bene, non si è accorto di niente perché ha dormito sempre e quando l'elicottero è arrivato Fufi era in perfetta forma. Nonna Caterina, anche se ha pagato tanto, è molto felice perché ha aiutato il suo amato gatto.

(Il Giornalino)

1 - Caterina e Gennaro hanno vissuto lontano dal loro paese natale

2 - I signori Priolo hanno viaggiato molto per motivi di lavoro

3 - Paola, Lisa e Giulia non abitano più con i genitori

4 - Le figlie di Caterina amano molto il gatto dei genitori

5 - Fufi è un gatto che ha dei problemi di salute molto gravi

6 - Caterina e Gennaro hanno salvato il gatto

7 - In Sardegna Fufi starà meglio che a Roma

8 - Caterina, Gennaro e Fufi sono partiti insieme ad un dottore

9 - Il gatto ha avuto qualche problema durante il viaggio

10 - A Caterina non interessa di aver pagato diecimila euro

Frequento la scuola superiore a Bologna. A marzo la mia città ha ospitato la prima edizione del Festival internazionale giovani e cinema: un concorso di film in varie lingue, con i sottotitoli in italiano, sull'adolescenza. Siamo stati noi studenti a fare da giuria e a scegliere il film vincitore. Invito tutti gli studenti che studiano inglese, francese, tedesco e spagnolo a venire al cinema Odeon di Bologna, per vedere tutti i film che hanno partecipato. Gli spettacoli ci saranno tutti i sabati, alle ore 17.00, per tutto il mese di aprile.

Vi aspettiamo!

28) Leggere il testo ed indicare la lettera A, B o C corrispondente alla risposta scelta.

Un giorno ero in treno con due mie amiche ed eravamo sedute vicino ad un signore che cantava. Abbiamo iniziato a ridere e gli abbiamo anche detto che cantava malissimo. Questo signore si è arrabbiato e ci ha risposto che non è buona educazione ridere in faccia agli altri. Due settimane dopo lo abbiamo incontrato davanti alla scuola: era il papà di un nostro compagno di classe che, tra l'altro, non ci è simpatico. Non sappiamo se ci ha riconosciute, speriamo di no!

Le ragazze

A si sono divertite a criticare il comportamento degli altri

B hanno avuto poco rispetto per una persona adulta

C hanno disapprovato la reazione di un compagno di scuola

DIECIMILA EURO PER FAR VIAGGIARE IL GATTO!

I miei nonni si chiamano Caterina e Gennaro Priolo. Sono nati in Sardegna, a Nuoro, e sono pensionati. Fino a poco tempo fa abitavano a Roma per lavoro. Hanno tre figlie, Paola, Lisa e Giulia (la mia mamma) che abitano in Sardegna dove abito anche io. A Roma i miei nonni erano da soli e per sentire meno la solitudine avevano preso un gatto, Fufi, che per loro è come un altro figlio. Lo avevano trovato lungo una strada dove stava per morire: era ferito e lo hanno curato. Tempo fa nonna Caterina e nonno Gennaro hanno deciso di ritornare a Nuoro, ma non sapevano come fare con Fufi perché soffre il mal d'aria, il mal di mare e ha una grande paura di tutti i mezzi di trasporto. Allora, per farlo viaggiare da Roma alla Sardegna, hanno affittato un elicottero, hanno fatto addormentare Fufi con un'anestesia e hanno chiesto ad un medico veterinario di accompagnarli. Per fare tutto questo hanno pagato diecimila euro! L'elicottero ha impiegato due ore per arrivare a Nuoro e durante il volo Fufi è stato bene, non si è accorto di niente perché ha dormito sempre e quando l'elicottero è arrivato Fufi era in perfetta forma. Nonna Caterina, anche se ha pagato tanto, è molto felice perché ha aiutato il suo amato gatto.

(Il Giornalino)

1. Les empreintes génétiques

Un assassin peut être identifié grâce à son ADN, à condition de trouver l'ADN en quantité suffisante sur les lieux du crime. Le plus souvent, il suffit d'une infime quantité de peau, sueur, sang ou de sperme. L'ADN recueilli est recopié par des appareils, découpé en petits morceaux puis mis dans un gel spécial. En faisant passer un courant électrique, les morceaux vont se ranger en fonction de leur longueur. On obtient alors une sorte de code-barres différent pour chaque individu. La comparaison de l'empreinte génétique du suspect avec celle trouvée sur les lieux du crime permet aux enquêteurs de trouver les coupables.

1. Ecrire à partir de quoi l'ADN peut être extrait ?
2. Indiquer comment on obtient le code-barres ?
3. Indiquer dans quelle condition l'empreinte génétique permet d'identifier un coupable ?

2. Le Chimpanzé et l'homme

La comparaison du chimpanzé avec l'homme montre que les deux espèces partagent la très grande majorité de leur patrimoine génétique. De manière plus précise, 99% de nos molécules d'ADN sont identiques à celles du chimpanzé. Ce sont des réarrangements de segments de chromosomes (par exemple segment d'un chromosome qui est allé se fixer sur un autre) qui expliquent ces différences. C'est peu et beaucoup à la fois : la différence entre notre génome et celui du chimpanzé est 10 fois plus grande que celle entre deux êtres humains....

Des modifications génétiques minimales sont donc à l'origine de conséquences de grande ampleur (par exemple la bipédie et le développement du cerveau qui correspondent aux caractéristiques spécifiques de l'homme).

L'extrême proximité génétique de deux espèces confirme ce qu'indiquent les fossiles : la séparation entre la branche humaine et celle des chimpanzés, à l'échelle du monde, est relativement récente. La majorité des scientifiques évaluent cette séparation à environ 7 millions d'années.

1. Indiquer l'argument qui permet de dire que le chimpanzé et l'homme sont deux espèces vivantes très proches.
2. Citer les caractéristiques spécifiques de l'homme
3. Préciser la cause de l'apparition de ces caractéristiques chez l'homme
4. Rappeler les indications que donnent les fossiles sur la séparation entre la branche humaine et celle des chimpanzés.
5. Donner la date de cette séparation.

Built at the innermost point of the Pagasetic Gulf and at the foot of Mount Pilio or Pelion (the land of the _____), Volos is the third of Greece's major commercial ports, with traffic by ferry and hydrofoil to the nearby Sporades Islands, which include _____, _____ and _____. Modern Volos is built on the area of the ancient cities of _____, _____ and _____. Demetrias was established by _____, King of Macedon. Iolkos, Iolcos or Iolcus, was the homeland of mythological hero _____, who boarded the ship _____ accompanied by the _____ and sailed in quest of the _____ to _____. Byzantine era

According to a Byzantine historian of the 14th century, Volos was known as _____. The most widely accepted theory for the derivation of the city's name suggests that Volos is a corruption of the Mycenaean Iolkos, which had become distorted through the ages to become "_____", later "_____", and subsequently "Volos". Others contend that the name originates with _____, who according to myth was a wealthy landlord of the region. It was conquered by Stefan Dusan, was king of _____ in 1348 and was managed for 25 years. Volos returned to Byzantine rule in 1373 but was conquered by _____ in 1393. Volos returned to Byzantine again in 1402 but Ottomans retook it in 1423.

Ottoman era

The city marked a Southern border of Vilayet-i Rumeli-i Şarki in the Ottoman Empire, known then as "Golos". Since the early stages of the Greek Revolution, the provisional government of Greece claimed Volos as part of Greek national territory, but the _____ (1832), which established a Greek independent state, set its northern boundary between _____ and Volos.

Modern Volos

Volos is a relatively new city, beginning its strongest growth in the mid-19th century where an insignificant Turkish hamlet used to lie. According to local evidence, the modern town was first established in _____. The locality of its castle was named Golos by Ottomans and locals, while Ano Volos was known as Gkolos.

After its incorporation into Greece from the Ottoman Empire in 1881, the town had a population of only _____, but grew rapidly in the next four decades as merchants, businessmen, craftsmen and sailors gravitated toward it from the surrounding area. In the 1920s a large influx of _____ to the settlement took place, especially from Ionia, but also from Pontus, Cappadocia and Eastern Thrace. Volos was occupied by Ottomans in 8 May 1897, during the Greco Turkish War. The development of the city was closely bound up with the establishment of its _____ estate, the upgrading of the _____, and the growth of tourism, due to the city's location near the Mt. _____, the home of _____ the Centaur, and the beaches of the Magnesia Prefecture, particularly those of the Northern Sporades. The city has been linked with a number of significant social movements in the past, such as the early teaching of Dimotiki, by _____ in the early 20th century (when Katharevousa was the officially sanctioned version). Volos is also well known for its assortment of mezedes and a clear, alcoholic beverage known as _____.
